

To do list.py

30/01/2026

```
#Online Python compiler
#To do list and different operations on it
operations user can perform
choices = ['add','view','update','delete','exit'] task1 =[] # defining empty list

#choices
#to repeat loop till condition is true
while True:
    print("\nChoose an option :") # for letting user choose an option among print("add,view, update, delete, exit") # available tasks user can perform choice = input("Enter your choice:").lower() # taking input from user in lowercase

    #add task
    if choice == "add":
        task= input("Enter new task you want to add") task1.append(task) # add new task print("task added successfully")# task completed successfully print(task1)

    #View task
    elif choice == "view":
        if len(task1) == 0:
            print("No task available!")
        else:
            print("your tasks are:")

    #to print task along with index
        for i , task in enumerate(task1):
            print(i,":", task)
        break

    #update task
    elif choice == "update":
        if len(task1) == 0:
            print("no task available")
        else:
            print(task1)
            index= int(input("Enter task number to update: "))
            new_task = input("Enter new task!: ") task1[index] = new_task
            print(task1)
            break

    #delete task
    elif choice == "delete" :
        if len(task1) == 0:
            print("No task available!")
        else:
            print(task1)
```

```
index= int(input("Enter task number you want to delete: ")) - 1
if index<0 or index >= len(task1):
    print("Invalid task number")
else :
    del task1[index]
    print("task deleted successfully!")
    print(task1)
```

```
#exit task
elif choice == "exit":
    print("Exiting program")
    break
```